Logansport, Indiana – Effective May 1, 2007 the Logansport/Cass County Airport Authority will provide Fixed Based Operator (FBO) services at the Logansport Cass County Airport. Logansport Flying Service, under contract with the airport since 1960 to provide FBO services, is ceasing operations. “Logansport Flying Service, operated by Sam Williamson since 1980, has provided a valuable service to the airport and community for 47 years” said Tim Dalton, Manager of the Logansport Cass County Airport. The Airport Authority has implemented plans to continue selling both jet and piston aviation fuels and has retained key employees of Logansport Flying Service. “It is important that service to our customers continue without interruption. Retaining knowledgeable and experienced employees is critical to that mission.” said Dalton. In addition to providing FBO services at the airport, Logansport Flying Services also operates a FAA Part 135 charter business. Effective May 1, charter flights and flight training will not be available locally. Efforts are being made to secure a new FAA Part 135 charter operator and the expanded airport staff is committed to helping anyone desiring charter or flight training services to locate providers of those services.
